DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

2. Claims 46 and 47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by the pre-grant publication to Murray et al. (US 2002/0062956). Murray et al discloses a self lubricating expansion mandrel for expanding a tubular. It includes a housing 18 with a tapered outer surface. This housing has one or more grooves in it that hold a solid lubricant. These grooves extend to the trailing edge of the expansion mandrel. The grooves can take any number of shapes, such as cylindrical, axial, or a combination thereof. Any grooves located on the surface are going to inherently comprise a textured surface. The lubricant in the grooves can be a number of things including a fluoropolymer coating, a soft metal or a film of material.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 9/30/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

4. It is the assertion of the applicant that Murray does not disclose a supply of lubricant in the trailing edge portion of the expansion device. The examiner respectfully traverses this assertion. The Murray reference can be seen to fulfill this limitation in two ways. First, the nose swage (12) can be broadly read as the entirety of the claimed expansion device, which would have the solid lubricant (21) extend from the leading edge of the device to the trailing end.

Art Unit: 3676

Second, the lower swage portion (44) can be seen as containing the trailing edge portion, since the edges are claimed as, “the interface between the expansion device and the tubular member comprises a leading edge portion and a trailing edge.” Thus, the solid lubricant groove (21a) would extend into the trailing edge portion, and the oppositely angled portion of the swage would not be considered since it is not part of the interface.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-45 are allowed.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
